Tomorrow

There Is No End To Education.

It is not that you read a book, pass an examination, and finish with education.

The whole of life, from the moment you are born, to the moment you die, is a process of learning.

KNR Skills Based Training

Skills Based Training is now an Integral part of 21st Century Learning, it is no longer an option, it has become an almost mandatory requirement if you wish to stand out and succeed in the current competitive employment market as prescribed by CBSE.

KNR recognise the diversity in individual learning styles and abilities and we provide a hybrid model of support which includes e-learning, one on one instruction and classroom based.

Practical hands-on training is lacking in most of today's training and formal qualifications. There is a huge gap between the industry needs and the teachings and that is why our skills training courses play a pivotal role, that will competently bridge that very real gap. KNR provides a unique opportunity to students along to bring CBSE skills based courses to add the necessary skills to enhance student's strengths.

Combining qualifications with all the required skills and the latest technology trends - the latest things that are happening in the industry to bind everything together would help a student's career prospects.

KNR are committed to providing a range of top-quality training courses to Enhance, Enrich and Empower Individuals– our three E's are pivotal to KNR's creative solutions. Enhance an individual's thinking, and creativity through creative learning solutions which will then enrich an individual's knowledge and wisdom which will then empower them with the 21st Century skills.

These skills combined, then enables that individual to do a job or to perform a job with the required skills, using the latest technology and the latest advances to higher levels of performance. You are much more inclined and qualified to do things better because of the unique knowledge, because of your- unique skill sets.

KNR also Offer Skills Training Courses in multiple Zones

KNR offer Skills Courses in many zones. Please request a copy for a complete list of skills zones, courses, and options.

What are soft skills and why have they become so important today?

Soft Skills are subjective skills that are much harder to quantify than technical skills as they are largely formed as part of our individual personality traits and can be instrumental or detrimental depending on what and how we have learned or develop these inherent traits. Soft skills are often called "people skills" or "interpersonal skills," and they represent the way we relate to others and interact with the people and the world around us. Soft skills also heavily rely on our emotional intelligence as to how effectively we communicate and interact in our daily environments.

It has become a well-known fact within work force/ academia that technical skills are no longer enough as a stand-alone qualification in today's competitive world. Someone who has exceptional technical skills may be sorely lacking in the necessary soft skills. It is the lack of soft skills that cause underperformance while an effective soft skill set creates a great leader within any organisation. Soft skill development can arguably contribute more to the workforce than technical skills can alone and they have now become a crucial learning and skill development component of CBSE skills training.

- ☐ Communication
- ☐ Teamwork
- ☐ Flexibility
- ☐ Patience
- ☐ Persuasion
- ☐ Time Management
- ☐ Motivation

Employers are no longer interested or willing to make the time available to train their employees on the job and mentor these skills in-house, in company time. Competition is fierce to secure that dream job. Experience is hard to get so soft skills training is an urgent requirement for many students to be successful in tomorrow's job market.

There is no longer any doubt, Soft Skill Sets are needed to complement and enhance Technical Skills Sets. Employers are seeking these skills they want to see evidence of it in their employee applications. Employers now demand a multifaceted and well-developed applicant before considering them for a position.

Soft skills contribute greatly to the productivity, teamwork and collaborative requirements such as:

- Getting work consistently done on time at high quality
- Collaborating on major projects and making technical compromises
- Presenting, persuading and public speaking
- Being able to work for a variety of different people each with their own unique style
- Making tough technical and non-technical decisions with limited information and often dealing with ambiguity, challenging conventional wisdom and authority
- Supporting team members
- Using initiative methods to understand issues
- Managing multiple subjects to a timeline and meeting the deadlines
- Being able to prioritize with little direction or guidance
